Wrong notes, old frustrating used quotes men with pencils making copious notes out in the dark, cut the far left wing an old man shaking a sheet of tin judgement's fall, into well spun webs The pictures of war use bayonets local priest still holds the floor with the same old lines from the time before Don't you know when I've had enough laugh at love, ain't that tough

don't you know when I've had enough I'd like to be alone just to be alone, ah to be alone

Sacred profession still guard the walls but my castle keeps guaranteed the fall selling souls for a mean half truth but the power and the king share a palace roof welcome flowers lead a funeral train when you're out in the desert don't you pray for rain

Don't you know when I've had enough laugh it off, all that stuff
don't you know when I've had enough
I'd like to be alone
just to be alone, oh to be alone,

They fool themselves into thinking that they're talking about that they never doubt it, Oh to be alone, got to be alone

Save me!
save me
save me

I'd like to be alone
Got to be alone

don't you know when I've had enough
laugh at love, ain't that tough

don't you know when I've had enough I like to live and all that stuff
don't you know when I've had enough I like to be alone

Just to be alone
Got to be alone
Wanna be alone
Oh to be alone
Alone alone alone
Got to be alone wanna be alone
Got to be alone
