(J. Taglieri)

Took a train ride to a place I'd never been
Don't know why I went that way
All the sights and sounds, The people standing around
Then I looked your way
Couldn't catch my breath, Don't think I've got it yet
No words that I can say
The beauty in your face, I felt so out of place
Then you looked my way
It was my finest day
'Cause I found you
I never would have thought the day would come
I'd dream the dreams but now you're really here
You've been here all the while, But now I see your smile
And I know it's true
Baby, I found you
I watched the sunset for the first time in your eyes
Could not believe what I had seen
The colors and the sights filled me with such delight
Now you're here with me
Nowhere I'd rather be
'Cause I found you
I never would have thought the day would come
I'd dream the dreams but now you're really here
You've been here all the while, But now I see your smile
And I know it's true
Baby, I found you
Call it fate, call it anything you want
All I know is that I found you
'Cause I found you
I never would have thought the day would come
I'd dream the dreams but now you're really here
You've been here all the while, But now I see your smile
And I know it's true
Baby, I found you
