Well I, I'm thinking about a new kind of style for living
Cause I am glad, of what I've been given
Cause when the daylight breaks my curtains
And I know that I am certain
That a new day that's dawning I'll stop without warning
Say oh...

Well drag my clothes on, left my shoes by the door
Grab the keys to lock it and check once more
And it's never too early for me
To go see the people that I love to see.

Cause when the daylight breaks my curtains
And I know that I am certain
That a new day that's dawning
I'll stop without warning
Say oh...

And a smile from a stranger always made me feel good
Unexpected kindness is misunderstood
And I am glad of what I've been given
Cause when the daylight breaks my curtains
And I know that I am certain
That a new day that's dawning
I'll stop without warning
Say oh...
