I never travelled too far
I never caught a shooting star
One day, I almost saw the lights of Hong Kong
But that's not where I belong

Slaloming between the cars
Drinking from an empty jar
I tried to use a different tongue
Before I found where I belong

I just wanted to stay there
Standing at the top of the stairs
I just wanted to stand there
Watching people walk in pairs

I'd like to end it here
No one's gonna push me anywhere
I know that I am not wrong
When I say this is where I belong
