I saw the waters standing still
And my world began to chill
around my loneliness

I felt the air come to a stall
And I did not move at all
My world just got colder

Lately it seems that all of my dreams have come true
Why does it feel like nothing's for real without you
The world doesn't stop
Around my Loneliness

Why has the sun refused to shine
Maybe 'cause I drank the wine
It's bitter in it's sweetness

Now, well it looks as though the sky
Is sad and wants to cry, raindrops filled with fire

Lately it seems that all of my dreams have come true
(yes they have)
Why does it feel like nothing's for real without you
The world doesn't stop
Around my Loneliness

Lately it seems that all of my dreams have come true
Why does it feel like nothing's for real without you
The world doesn't stop
Around my Loneliness
