It's stuck there in my memory
What did you mean that night you had your thought out moment
And the door is shut, never to be opened until dark
When you'd be on the right side and it's after three

Could you care less, care more or not care at all Yeah you mean well, well I mean well too

It feels like everyone else's time went on and on and on

This is the first time you showed me how you felt I know it's what you want, but shouldn't this be about me?

This is the last time I will give you one last chance
Yeah, you mean well, I mean well too
