

Evan Anthem, The

"Half Ready To Half Believe"

Visit "Half Ready To Half Believe" on MotoLyrics.com

You're a tree that wants to throw me out
a cliff that wants to push me off
and all I ever wanted was some space to myself.
Some space to breathe in
when everything I've been through is you.

The air is cold, and I can't run anymore.
I'm half ready to half believe I am the reason for this.

You're a lake that wants to pull me in a friend that wants to push me out and all I ever wanted was someone who understands.
The meaning of this all when I was just myself.

You're a tree that wants to throw me out
a cliff that wants to push me off
and all I ever wanted was some space to myself.
Some space to breathe in
when everything I've been through is you.

Honestly I believe the words You spill.
The headlines prove this war is real.
Honestly I believe the words You spill.
You're the Truth, and I believe.

Visit Evan Anthem, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.