h, oh, oh the life we share
It will fall down when you meet me here
And you come around
And you come around
Crying on my back step leaving signs for me

I wanna change your mind
Make it clearer but my heart turns off the light
Every single time
You make it harder, and I should have known that

We are the ones who lose now
So when you push, push me away

You wanna steal my heart
So you can fix it, and hate it
I wanna let you start
So I can fake it, and you should have known that

We are the ones who lose now
The silence wil stick onto my skin
We are the ones who lose now
So when you push, push me away
Oh, oh, oh all the life we share
It will fall down when you meet me here
And you come around and you come around
Crying on my back step leaving signs for me

You wanna fix my heart,
I wanna let you start
