I lost you in the crowd in an unfamiliar town
they found you back in the river where hardly no one goes

I had so much to tell you
but it never came to words I wish I could have told you that no one can take your place

in an unfamiliar town
where hardly no one goes

I wish I would have told you that no one can take your place
