"Go On"

i met a girl traveling 'round the world, leaving pieces behind

she said she'd wait for me, i can't make her see that she's called to other skies i can't be her place to hide it's comin' up, it's comin' up again (live here long to make her stay)

and what are you doin' in my head? and why did you call me when you're dead!? (go on!)

so go on, go and take on the world (building castles, building castles!)

expand your wings across the sky, take my words and say good-night and never say good-bye maybe in another time, you could have been mine expand your wings and fly and look to the sky it's comin' up, (don't forget to write me) it's comin' up again

indulge in everything you'll see (what are you doin' in my head?)

and why did you call me when you're dead!? (go on!)

so go on, go and take on the world (building castles, building castles!)

say good-night and never say good-bye

so follow all your dreams whatever, whatever they may be

so follow all your dreams whatever, whatever they may be (go on!)

so go on, go and take on the world (building castles, building castles!)

say good-night and never say good-bye

expand your wings and fly
