

Garden Savage

"A Thousand Words"

Visit "A Thousand Words" on MotoLyrics.com

We stumble in a tangled web, decaying friendships almost dead
And hide behind a mask of lies We twist and turn and we avoid, all the hope of salvage now devoid I see the truth inside your eyes
So take all this noise into your brain and send it all back again I'll bear the cost, shed my skin, call you up and then...
I'll say the words out loud
You could resurrect a thousand words to deceive me more and more A thousand words will give the reasons why I don't need you any more
Time manipulates your heart, preconceptions torn apart Begin to doubt my state of mind
But I won't go down on what I said I won't retract convictions read

I may perplex, but I'm not blind
So take all this noise into your brain
and send it back again I'll bear the cost, shed my skin, call
you up and then...
I'll say the words out loud
I'll say the words out loud. I'll say a thousand words or more Manipulation. Fabrication.
Conversation. Annihilation
I'll say a thousand words or more Damnation. Frustration. Elevation.
Procreation
I'll say a thousand words or more
You could resurrect a thousand
words to deceive me more and more
A thousand words will give the reasons why I don't need
you anymore

Visit Garden Savage page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.