

Angels and Airwaves

"A Little's Enough"

Visit "A Little's Enough" on MotoLyrics.com

When all is said and done
Will we still feel pain inside?
Will the scars go away with night?
Try to smile for the morning light

It's like the best dream to have
Where everything is not so bad
Every tear is so alone
Like God himself is coming home to say

I, I can do anything
If you want me here
And I can fix anything
If you'll let me near

Where are those secrets now?
That you're too scared to tell
I whisper them all aloud
So you can hear yourself

Green trees were the first sign
The deepest blue, the clearest sky
The silence came with brightest eyes
Like turning water into wine

The children ran to see
Their parents stood in disbelief
And those who knew braced for the ride
The earth itself, it came alive to say

I, I can do anything
If you want me here
And I can fix anything
If you'll let me near

Where are those secrets now?
That you're too scared to tell
I whisper them all aloud
So you can hear yourself

Sorry, I have to say it but you look like you're sad
Your smile is gone, I noticed it bad

The cure is if you let in just a little more love
I promise you this, a little's enough

I'm sorry, I have to say it but you look like you're sad
Your smile is gone, I noticed it bad
The cure is if you let in just a little more love
I promise you this, a little's enough

I'm sorry I have to say it but you look like you're sad
Your smile is gone, I noticed it bad
The cure is if you let in just a little more love
I promise you this, a little's enough

I'm sorry I have to say it but you look like you're sad
Your smile is gone, I noticed it bad
The cure is if you let in just a little more love
I promise you this, a little's enough

I'm sorry, I have to say it but you look like you're sad
(Just a little)
Your smile is gone, I've noticed it bad
(Just a little)
The cure is if you let in just a little more love
(Just a little)
And I promise you this, a little's enough

I'm sorry, I have to say it but you look like you're sad
(Just a little)
Your smile is gone, I've noticed it bad
(Just a little)
The cure is if you let in just a little more love
(Just a little)
And I promise you this, a little's enough

Visit Angels and Airwaves page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.