She's scared, she's a star
Across the nighttime sky

The snow has come down on top of everything
The town is alive and well without you
The lights they peer out of the leafless trees
And you won't be alone, I am beside you

True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
The stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

Tears spilling out across a dead end street
Your house is a lonely box that holds you
The star, bright and loud is in dire need
Of the fear, it is an empty fear inside you

True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
The stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

The stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
The stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
The stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

The stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
The stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
The light is the sign that love will guide you home
True love, the stars in the sky illuminate below
If the world were to die the light would guide you

She's a star
