It's like the eye of a hurricane
It's like the whistle of a distant train
It's like gravity
It's like the salmon swimming upstream

It's like rain from a cloudless sky
It's like a melody that makes you cry
It's beyond chemistry
And our hearts are beating in time

Our love is deeper than the deepest sea
It's something that we can't conceive or describe
Our love is higher than the highest plane
It's something that we can't explain or deny
How can I define something so divine?

It's in the way that you look at me
The words we don't need to speak
It's more than telepathy
It's in the air that we both breathe

And all my logic and reasoning
Don't seem to mean a thing
It's unsayable
So, I'm gonna let my spirit sing it

Our love is deeper than the deepest sea
It's something that we can't conceive or describe
Our love is higher than the highest plane
Something that we can't explain or deny
How can I define something so divine?

Our love is deeper than the deepest sea
It's something that we can't conceive or describe
Our love is higher than the highest plane
Higher than we can explain or deny
How can I define something so divine?

Our love is deeper than the deepest sea
It's something that we can't conceive or describe
Our love is higher than the highest plane
Something that we can't explain or deny

No matter how I try, words won't come to mind
How can I define something so divine?
