I don't mind that I'm not the man I planned to be
We all are searching for something more
Just look to me, and you'll see

I can't sleep, No not anymore
This feeling inside me, bleeding through every bit of it
I just want to feel, a little less empty again
Tell me you'll understand, what you have done to me
All my hope is gone, all the love has long been lost

You see right through me, but we both know the truth, that I need this
That I need this more than you

My body is of no value to me just take as you please
Just let me fill my heart with the love that I need
We are forgotten, I don't feel anymore
We aren't remembered for what we want but words we chose
