How do you stand up straight in a world that puts you down?
And how much longer will this ship stay on the ground?
Look at the mirror and you're starting to fear that the best of years have gone by
That you're never climbing higher

Well if you're tired of being yourself
Go on and be somebody else
As long as the stars are burning
The world keeps turning, you know...
That everything changes

Well how do you know what's of this earth and what's divine?
And if the point of life is creation then why are we wasting our time...
Looking around to discover ourselves like it's some fixed point you can find?
You can start to lose your mind

But if you're tired of being yourself
Go on and be somebody else
As long as the stars are burning
The world keeps turning, you know...
That if you're tired of being yourself
Go on and be somebody else
Take all the rules and break em
Your plans and remake em cause you know
Everything changes
Everything changes

Are you ready to quit?
Are you out? Is this it?
Well we all take a hit but we keep on fighting

How did you end up in this place for so long?
And what ever made you think that this is where you belong?
Walking the streets like a dog that's been beat cause you just can't sleep tonight

Will you ever get it right?

Well if you're tired of being yourself
Go on and be somebody else
As long as the stars are burning
The world keeps turning, you know...
That if you're tired of being yourself
Go on and be somebody else
Take all the rules and break em
Your plans and remake em cause you know
Everything changes
