Most of my life , I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The friends that I thought I had were never there
You look for love , but you don't know where
And I'm in a race that could be any place
And when I was born ,my life had slowly worn
The woman that I loved had slowly walked away
I tried to smile but that was yesterday
And most of my life , I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The friends that I thought I had were never there
You look for love ,but you don't know where
And most of my life , I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The woman that I loved had sadly walked away
I tried to smile but that was yesterday
And most of my life , I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The friends that I thought I had were never there
You look for love , but you don't know where
Most of my life and most of my life
And most of my life , and most of my life
And most of my life (fade)
