Another day.
I loose direction.
Memories of yesterday, they call.
Keeps me feeling small.
I use to feel, the sweet conviction.
Now I walk to crucifixion.
Please, won't you catch me when I fall.
But I can't take the screaming anymore.
Still, there's nothing like your kisses, I recall.

You know I'm trying, denying.
That you don't love me anymore.
You're closing all your doors.
Inside I'm crying, I'm fighting.
To find the way back to your heart.
But I break before I start.

I can't give up, to expectations.
Now you leave your resignation.
I, will miss you when you're gone.
I guess, you can't take the screaming anymore.
Remember all my kisses, like before.

You know I'm trying, denying.
That you don't love me anymore.
You're closing all your doors.
Inside I'm crying, I'm fighting.
To find the way back to your heart.
But I break before I start.

I know I can't refuse the call.
And your silent says it all.
It's over.
Don't leave me standing here.

You know I'm trying, denying.
That you don't love me anymore.
You're closing all your doors.
Inside I'm crying, I'm fighting.
To find the way back to your heart.
But I break before I start.

You know I'm trying, denying. (Oh, I can feel your sweet conviction.)
No, won't you crucifixion.
Inside I'm crying, I'm fighting.
To find the way back to your heart.
But I break before I start.

Another day.
I loose direction.
Memories of yesterday, recall.
Keeps me feeling small.
