(Intro)

If I knew then what I know today, would everything be going this way...
Would it be different, would it be the same, could it be that there's no one to blame?
If I knew then what I know today, would everything be going this way...
Would it be different, would it be the same?
Questionsâ€¦

I know it has been some time, been a while since we went our separate ways.
And I know you've moved on with your life I've got mine, but still one question remains:
All of the memories, all of the photographs, all of the words that we have said
All of the kisses every tear I cry live in the box right under my bed.
And it's time that I put all this to rest cause it's over there's nothing left,

(Chorus)

Ask myself this question:
What do I do with you; tell me what do I do with us,
Said that it would last forever, but forever wasn't enough,
Cause I have everything I want now, there ain't nothing that I need now
So what do I do with you cause there's no you and me now.

I don't even miss you, can't even try, my eyes won't even cry,
When we said it's over said goodbye a part of us had to die,
With all of the memories all of the photographs all of the words that we have said
All of the kisses every tear I cry live in the box right under my bed.
And it's time that I put all this to rest cause it's over there's nothing left,

(Chorus)

Ask myself this question:

What do I do with you; tell me what do I do with us,
Said that it would last forever, but forever wasn't
enough,

Cause I have everything I want now, there ain't nothing
that I need now

So what do I do with you cause there's no you and me
now.

If I knew then what I know today, would everything be going this way...

Would it be different, would it be the same, could it be that there's no one to blame?

If I knew then what I know today, would everything be going this way...

Would it be different, would it be the same, could it be that there's no one to blame?

(Chorus)

Ask myself this question:

What do I do with you; tell me what do I do with us,
Said that it would last forever, but forever wasn't
enough,

Cause I have everything I want now, there ain't nothing
that I need now

So what do I do with you cause there's no you and me
now.
