Where've you been our dear friend?
Are you doing alright?
It's been a little while since we've seen you around
We've been out here sipping poison cocktails
Waiting for your precious ship to return to us
If you're blind you'll never see the light that shines on you

Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
But you don't realize
Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
Come on...walk out that door

So a stranger came and gave you cruel words that Took your confidence and made you seem invisible
Don't be the sunset
Be the sunrise
We're waiting for your precious ship to return to us
Voices so unkind but they don't mean a thing at all

Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
But you don't realize
Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
Come on...walk out that door

Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
But you don't realize
Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
But don't you forget that you got
Belleza in you, belleza in you
And you are who you are
But you don't realize

Are you gonna stay and Spend your whole life there

All alone in your little room
Staring at the pictures on the wall...
