I know, I know
We don't need nothing 'cause we don't feel a thing
Dissolve it, resolve it
The beauty comes and goes
Only sing song
I sing a little so I see a little yeah
Bought it and thrown it all away
And you remind me of a dream I never dreamt
You come down into my world and then you slow me down
Into a coma
You're all I need

Say you'll be my own
My everglow that shines for me in my womb
And whisper broken symphonies
As I feel my heart exploding gently in me

I know, I know
I've seen my maker, I've seen me fade her
When everything I ever thought was real became so flavourless
And everybody came to block me out
When all I did was try to tell someone the truth
You're the sunlight in my grey
Dancer dance a little faster

Say you'll be my own
My everglow that shines for me in my womb
And whisper broken symphonies
As I feel my heart exploding so gently in me

I feel your cables dig deeper within Electric waves that wash me clean again

Say you'll be my own
My everglow that shines like stolen bits of glitter
You're shining out into deeper blue moments
Shining out and dissolving me until I break apart

Shining out and make me break apart

Shining out until I break apart
Shining out and make me break apart
Shining out until I break apart
Shining out and make me break apart
Shining out until I break apart
Shining out and make me break apart
Shining out until I break apart

I'm breaking...
