

Fall, The "Totally Wired"

I'm totally wired
Totally wired
I'm totally wired
Totally wired

Can't you see
A butterfly stomach 'round ground?
I drank a jar of coffee
And I took some of these

And I'm totally wired
Totally wired
I'm totally wired
Totally wired

Life leaves you surprised
Slaps you in the eyes
If I were a communist
A rich man would bale me

The opposite applies
The morning light
Another fresh fight
Another row, right, right, right, right

And I'm totally wired
Just totally wired
I'm totally biased
Totally wired

You don't have to be weird to be wired
You don't have to be an American brand
You don't have to be strange to be strange
You don't have to be weird to be weird

But I'm totally wired
Totally wired
Just totally wired
I'm totally wired

My heart and I agree

My heart and I agree
I'm irate, peeved, irate, peeved, irate, bad state
Bad state

'Cos I'm totally wired
Totally wired
Just totally wired
Totally wired

And I'm always worried
And I'm always worried
And I'm always worried
And I'm always worried
