It's par for the course
You bet the wrong horse
You put down the phone
And cried for yourself
And for what you couldn't have

A plea that won't do
Now that she serves it to you

And I don't even know you
I don't even know you any more
I don't even know you
I don't even know you any more

It's all you deserve
The loss of the nerve
The grade of the curve
Has brought
You to this
By the boat that you missed
You clung to the raft
So she swerved out of your path

And I don't even know you
I don't even know you any more
I don't even know you
I don't even know you any more

You loved her a lot
But she lost the pot
And timing is everything
In this game
So let's have a moment of blame
Think how it could have been
Well you should have said it all then

And I don't even know you
I don't even know you any more
I don't even know you
I don't even know you any more
