(Hank Mills)

With one elbow on the bar you're drinking double
Tryin' hard to drown up my memories
And you're tellin' all your buddies all your troubles
Layin' the blame smack upon me.

If you set that bottle down and while I listen
You lose your pain inside that hurts you so
Neither one of us is all to blame baby
It's your foggy woggy, wishy washy, fuzzy wuzzy ego.

You see you had it in your mind that I was the kind Of those who do anything you wanted me to
No two people are the same so no one is to blame
'Cause baby, I've got an ego too.

Come on back to me and we would talk things over
I love you baby, and I need you so
Wrap yourself to steamin' hot black cup of coffee
Forget your foggy woggy, wishy washy, fuzzy wuzzy
ego.

Come on back to me and we would talk things over
I love you baby, and I need you so
Wrap yourself to steamin' hot black cup of coffee
Forget your foggy woggy, wishy washy, fuzzy wuzzy
ego.

Forget your foggy woggy, wishy washy, fuzzy wuzzy
ego...
