To make you stay I'll never try and when you go I will not cry

But for a time I might be found somewhere live still around

But may you find a love that's true someone to love and cherish you

And if you love your whole life through and may you love as I love you

But if you'll ever feel alone with no true love to call your own

And if you'll need a place to hide these arms of mine are open wide

And if a troubled love brings you pain my love is all like summer rain

Always remember I'll be found still around

not cry
