Same holds from the same hands.
Five years strong, many times over and gone.
It's everything that I have to beat bridges much stronger and wide.
Fewer and farther between we meet again.
I'll try to well on my own.
Distance between's never been this far.
I realize that this time was something that I always knew,
only a fool wouldn't see.
Might as well start my drinking days now if I'm really alone.
It's tempting.
Am I asking too much to keep you at arms length?
Am I asking too much to keep you at home?
Please don't go.
I know it's all gonna be fine
And I know that this is what's right.
