Tanya Stephens
"Lying Lips"

Visit "Lying Lips" on MotoLyrics.com

He laid all his cliches on the table before me Told me how much he really loved and adored me and there's no other girl in the world who could make him feel like this such beautiful lying lips

He played all the right songs all night long just to sway me and made it clear he didn't just wanna lay me And he's been married but it's not working out so pretty soon they're gonna split What beautiful lying lips

go to hell dont pass, go, you dont collect
go to hell
you better learn to have a little respect
go to hell
i put a curse on your wondering dick
go to hell
or back to your wife, wich ever you pick
go to hell
i'll bet she's waiting for you to come home
go to hell
i'll bet --------------------
go to hell
there's really nothing here for you to get
go to hell
im only lonely not desperat

These are the words I should have said But instead i let him take me on a trip with those beautiful lying lips

And as he walked away reality filled me I knew that very day my conscience would kill me but so much time had passed sense i last had a chance to kiss
such beautiful lying lips

He made all the wrong moves He needed to win me

Appeal to every little deamon within me He semed to sensual to this lonely girl Said everything i missed

go to hell
dont pass, go, you dont collect
go to hell
you better learn to have a little respect
go to hell
i put a curse on your wondering dick
go to hell
or back to your wife, wich ever you pick
go to hell
i'll bet she's waiting for you to come home
go to hell
i'll bet --------------------
go to hell
there's really nothing here for you to get
go to hell
im only lonely not desperat

These are the words I should have said
But instead i let him take me on a trip
such beautiful lying lips

These are the words I should have said
But instead i let him take me on a trip
with those beautiful lying lips