"Let Her Down"

So much potential yet so little hope she's been used up, she's at the end of her rope everything, everything's falling apart

(she's so afraid)
Let her down let her down easy now
let her down let her down easy now (mistakes she's made) this life isn't so pleasing now let her fall into heaven's arms somehow she's been the loser for too long so life was all about her from the start but now it's always winter in her heart let her walls crash down let her will burn out how her world of glory fails to shine look what's she's become her heart's undone she's breaking free inside

everything, everything's falling apart I'm seeing everything, everywhere falling apart
let her down let her down easy now

(she's so afraid she's falling)
