now you see all this time work nine to five monday thru friday i'm singing i sing the blues for you now i'm standing in the pouring rain my feet are cold but i cant complain and i wonder how you have been i need you love i miss you so i know it's right but it's always strange how i scream all this life's worth all the while heartache and slave driving pain
