I knew a guy who died, I don't know why but I wasn't surprised

I knew a guy who tried and tried, he just could not survive

Please, please lay a hand on me, please touch me

Please, please lay a hand on me, please touch me

I knew a girl who went strange, I just could not explain

And I knew a girl who ran away, without anything to say

So please, please lay a hand on me, please touch me

Please, please lay a hand on me, please touch me

I never been anywhere that I could not hear a train

I never been anywhere that I could not feel its pain

So please, please lay a hand on me, please touch me

Please, please lay a hand on me, please touch me

Please lay a hand on me, please, please, please

Please, please, please
