How many times can I die?
How many times can I break inside?
How many times can I pray
Oh, Lord, to take this pain away?

He was the song in my soul
But now that song will never play
Instead a silence now falls over me

How many tears have I felt before
I learned to forgive myself?
How many trials can I face before
I start to lose my faith?

How many hearts have to mend
Before the poet rhymes again?
'Cause the feeling of you covers me

If I ever love again
It would be with you again
'Cause there's nothing that I can do
To make me keep me away from you

If I ever love again
It would be with you again
'Cause my life is not complete
Baby, till you're here with me

How many times did I try to hold you near
When you said goodbye?
How times did you judge before
You knew who I really was?

You were the fire in my day
But now the flame has burned away
And only shades of the past color me

If I ever love again
It would be with you again
'Cause there's nothing that I can do
To make me keep me away from you

If I ever love again
It would be with you again
'Cause my life is not complete
Baby, till you're here with me

He was the song in my soul
But now that song will never play
Instead, a silence now falls over me

If I ever love again
It would be with you again
'Cause there's nothing that I can do
To make me keep me away from you

If I ever love again
It would be with you again
'Cause my life is not complete
Baby, till you're here with me

I can't help myself
I want you and no one else
Baby, it's the way I feel over you
Baby, till you're here with me

I can't help myself
I want you and no one else
Baby, it's the way I feel over you
Baby, till you're here with me
