They met at a party
He was laughing with his friends
She captured all of his attention
Just by walkin' in
Confident and self-assured
He liked her attitude
And the moment their eyes met
Every girl in the room became
Chorus:
Invisible
Just out of view
Invisible
Like a pan of glass he could see right though
Invisible
They married in October
She made a beautiful bride
His whole world revolved around her
They had a picture perfect life
But when the baby came in August
Time started spinning like a wheel
She expected to feel tired
But she never thought she'd feel
Chorus
Cause lately he's been overlooking quite a lot
So tonight in lace and candlelight
She'll prove to him she's not
Chorus
A love deep inside
Invisible
So much more to her than meets the eye
Invisible
