I wish California without any warning would go and
start a burning tonight,

I wish California would fall in the ocean and everyone
would die.

you understand dont you? stifling, taking things for granted.

sometimes I get the impression Im better off not dealing with people.

it's a real pain in the ass being human.

i wish califonia without any warning would go and start a burning tonight,

I wish california would fall in the ocean and everyone
would die!
