Used to think that I was strong
Never needed anyone
But now it's all been said and done
It is getting hard for me to breathe...

Never thought that this would end
I was foolish to pretend
But life was much more simple then
And it is getting hard for me to breathe
Breathe.

Will you grin from ear to ear?
As you're senses disappear
As you're body Sh-sh shakes
And your memories dissipate

When you're strapped into your chair
As you're forced to sit and stare
Now the moment has arrived
With a breathe you say goodbye

Time will take us all
No exception to the the rule
It's the only thing I am still running from
Everybody dies alone
Everybody dies alone
It's the only thing I am still running from
Start believing or start retreating...

Everybody dies alone
Everybody dies alone
The only truth we really know...
Is everybody dies alone

Now you're strapped into your chair
As you're forced to sit and stare
Now the moment has arrived
With a breathe you say goodbye
