I took my pride
I washed it down
With all those words you didn't have the guts to take.
But it's so true
True what they say
Only time will break those aching chains
In time anything can change...

It changes everything
It changes everything
It changes everything
But I feel alright.

You claim it's fair, well I suppose
And if it helps you sleep at night then that's OK
You've made the choice for both of us
Only time will break those aching chains
In time anything can change...

It changes everything
It changes everything
It changes everything
But I feel alright
I feel alive...

Alive
It changes everything
So alive
It changes everything
I feel alive

It changes everything
It changes everything
It changes everything
But I feel alright
