"Watership Down"

saw the bright lights and so you headed out saw the billboard signs and left the ground saw the movies and wanted out of this regular life but all that you've found is that we heeded a call "come on, all aboard" and we paid with our souls for a ticket to nowhere

i can't do this without making a sound washes watership down

because i feel so watered down saw the ocean for the first time i felt whole inside i took all the pills that they gave me and washed out with the tide i heard only what i wanted to her and i shut you out and if california kills me i'll deserve it and i guess you've found that i hated the call "come on, all aboard" and i paid with my soul

cause i feel so watered down so take this for what it's worth i never wanted this to be and i bet you'll find out soon enough i've fallen, fallen back home and take this for what it's worth i never wanted it to end this way and i know no matter how long you look for you'll always be searching always be searching for home
