I've gone through so much other stuff
That walking down the aisle was tough
But now I know it's not enough -
I Want To Be A Clone.
I asked the Lord into my heart.
They said that that's the way to start,
But now you've got to play the part.
I Want To Be A Clone.
Be a clone and kiss conviction goodnight.
Cloneliness is next to godliness - RIGHT!
I'm grateful that they showed the way
'Cause I could never know the way
To serve him on my own -
I Want To Be A Clone.
They told me that I'd fall away
Unless I followed what they say;
Who needs the Bible anyway?
I Want To Be A Clone.
Their language, it was new to me,
But "Christianese" got through to me;
Now I can speak it fluently.

I Want To Be A Clone.

Be a clone . . .

"Send in the clones....."

(Uh, I kinda wanted to tell some of my friends and people about it,

you know?)

WHAT????

You're still a babe, you have to grow,

Give it twenty years or so.

'Cause if you want to be one of his,

Gotta act like one of US!

Be a clone . . .

So now I see the whole design:

My church is an assembly line.

The parts are there, I'm feeling fine.

I Want To Be A Clone.

I've learned enough to stay afloat,

But not so much I rock the boat.

I'm glad they shoved it down my throat -

I Want To Be A Clone!

(Everybody must get cloned
