"Woman On A Train"

Pictures chase across the ceiling
As I try to sleep at night
There's a voice inside my darkness
Laughing at the life I've lost
She's no girl on pills in limbo
She's a woman on a train

With her senses sharpened by the warning cold
She brings me to memory
She flashes her lights, her mission bites
She flashes her lights
Across my desert mind (still no change in me)

(She's) no girl on pills in limbo
She's a woman on a train
She's here...
The woman on a train...

And I will speak no words but the truth for her to hear
Hold her close... but never dare

(She's) no girl on pills in limbo
She's a woman on a train
She's here
The woman on a train...

She will speak for us both
She will speak for us all
Till I learn to care...

She'll override my best intention
Attack my weak deception
A friend for life and after
I'll never catch her off her guard
