A man once said that love is a treasure
How true his words, how true
The man who said that love is a treasure
He knew, how well, he knew

* I see your face, and there I see my fortune
No kingdom filled with gold could be so rare
When we embrace and you kiss me, oh, my darling
Each kiss is like a jewel beyond compare

Yes, the man who said that love is a treasure
How true his words, how true
I see your face and there I see my fortune
No kingdom filled with gold could be so rare

 When we embrace and you kiss me, oh, my darling
Each kiss is like a jewel beyond compare

Yes, a man once said that love is a treasure
How true his words, how true
