No matter what I feel for you, those three words I can't say.

I regret the times I used the word OK.

I know how much it means when people show they really care.

Of the value in honesty, I'm quite aware.

But still there's much in me that I don't share.

Don't have the guts to say what I think.

Well I'm too scared to Have the guts to say what I Think

Well I'm too scared to Have the guts to say what I Think

Well I'm too scared to Have the guts to say what I Think

Well I'm too scared to say what I think of you.

The other way around I'd say I function the same way.

The darker sides of me I underplay.

Afraid to get into conflicts, afraid to tell you, NO.

Though I know this weakness keeps me low.

There's so much inside me that I don't show.

Somethings I can never show. Why I don't know.....Why I

Don't Know..

Don't have the guts to say what I think.

I'm too scared to say what I think of you.

I'm too scared of what I really think of you.
