I haven't much to say today because the nowhere album's on thinking to much about tomorrow and the insperation's gone good times bad times seem to be the same when I'm doing something my mind is always somewhere else

All the talk about the one day plan has'nt got to me only my memories can make me feel free Anything I can do anything in the house of blend is where I find my energy

I'm too occupied with my own dreams a numskull in a bed you tried to dissapoint me with the things you said but now I'm busy maybe in a month wake me up and fill my empty mind with doubts

Give me something to hate cause I can't go on hating me give me someone to blame and tell me there's nothing wrong with me eject me if you can reject me if I come again consciousley I will run into more fun...
