Did someone let you down?
(Who let you down?)
I said, did someone let you down?
(Who let you down?)

I'm not playing he said, she said.
Though I'd really like to know.
This whole thing is hoping they'd turn back
I've been through it before.

Why am I desensitized to things I see with my own eyes?
Listen up, it's fading time
I'm not afraid to die.

She would say anything to make this pain go away.

Who let you down?
(Who let you down?)
I said, did someone let you down?
(Who let you down?)
I see both feet are on the ground
But your hands are in the air
And you need help.

I would help you,
Please don't let me down.

I'm not playing he said, she said.
But I'd really like to know,
This whole thing is hoping they'd turn back,
I've been through it before.

And you can call me cumbersome,
But that is not my name.
I'm long away from the rest of them.
The best of it'll change.

She would say anything to make this pain go away.

Who let you down?

(Who let you down?)
I said, did someone let you down?
(Who let you down?)
I see both feet are on the ground
But your hands are in the air
And you need help.

I would help you,
Please don't let me down.

Sometimes I wish I could be ordinary,
But lately that's not happened yet.
And when look at all the circumstance
It's seems it's all just misunderstanding.
I realized this doesn't make much sense
When I've tried to face the consequence.
I'm picking all the experience of never having found one like you since.

Who let you down?
Did someone let you down?
Whoa.

Who let you down?
(Who let you down?)
I said, did someone let you down?
(Who let you down?)
I said, did someone let you down?
Did someone let you down?
Who let you down baby, down, baby?
