I want to be a simple man
As far from complicated as I can
This is my most affective plan
To live and breath and understand

If I choose self-righteousness
And everyone around me I dismiss
And turn my back to find my bliss
There is no reason to exist

Chorus:
Living and living and living to die
Everything decays with movement of time
But hope is on my side

Just around another bend
This world will fade away and time will end
But through the eyes of mere humans
We can not even comprehend

Living and living and living to die
Everything decays with movement of time
Still pressing onward
Spirits still high
Moving and breathing and feeling alive
Hope is on my side
