

Forgotten, The "Listen"

Repetition of the statements run for years Woven through the lyrics and visionary's tears repeated to [?] upon you -open your eyes and listen the same mistake made, tried and true always fallin prey, always actin like the roub you fight for answers, others fight for air open your eyes and listen the pendulum slams back and forth pushing time to increase its imaginary force the final gravity is untold if we refuse to see the crowd revolts they say they heard it all before maybe so, but they still dont know the score off to fight in the ignorance war. game set and won

Lift yer head and hear me speak these things we must repeat and maybe once or just one will hear the words and listen hate the message dont hate the messenger you misconstrue it but i know you always knew it its more fun to fight the whole damn world if you never listen
