I was wrong to think I could love you
It doesn't matter how much you care
I could stand on my head quoting Shakespeare
I'd be here, and you'd be there

If I spend one more night feeling sorry
I'll go crazy, I know it, it's true
Help me out, let me go, no more worries
You missed me, and I just miss you

But it's gone, let it go
What we were we'll never know
No more sitting and crying
Not one minute more sighing
Dry your tears, say goodbye
With your beautiful eyes
Oh I'd rather remember them clear
One last look, then goodbye,
I'll be there, and you'll be here...

No romance could withstand separation
Like this distance that's between our hearts
And no love could demand such dedication
That would put back together what distance has torn apart

No, but it's gone, let it go
What we were we'll never know
No more sitting and crying
Not one minute more sighing
Dry your tears, say goodbye
With your beautiful eyes
Oh I'd rather remember them clear
One last look, then goodbye,
I'll be there, and you'll be here...

You'll be here...
