"Summer Sunday"

Throw open all the windows
Breathe in the air
Dance in your living room
And let down all your hair

It's a day for life
A day to undo all concerns
Dance barefoot in marigolds
And feel the flowers burn

All of the snow days
All of those cloud-heavy days
Have fallen behind us
And I feel the lightness in your gaze

Let's dance together now
Out where the corn grows high
We'll be together
And this moment will never die

So unload all your worries
Release your cares
For the next couple hours
We'll just lay back on the grass
And stare through the sunshine

At the people passing
On a summer Sunday, yeah
It's amazing how much
You can feel in just one day

All of the snow days
All of the cloud-heavy days
Have fallen behind us
And I feel the lightness in your gaze

Let's dance together now
Out where the corn grows high
We'll be together
And this moment will never die

(It's amazing how much
You can feel in just one day)
