At a crescent-shaped chalet, I take off my star piercings.

What do I do? My heart, my heart is full.

Should the fireworks become stars, should love be put out in the dark,

Please don't take the kiss away.

It's okay if you steal me away with the scent of velvet

To a love that this heart met out in the galaxy!

* The cloak of the night extends outward in rainbow colors

Love me more and more

Tuxedo mirage

Tuxedo mirage

The canary music box softly fades out.

What do I do? My heart, my heart is plugged.

Should the tears become stars, should the carousel disappear,

Please don't take the kiss away.

I want to be pulled in by your glance of velvet

To a love that this heart pledged out in the galaxy!

Hold me close, gently, amid the storm of flowers

Stay near me forever and ever

Tuxedo mirage
