It was getting late

Am

But she said let's stay

And you can help me smile

But the lights went up

And the music stopped

And all her mystery died

She was looking for someone to carry her through

She was looking for a way to keep it all new

So she took my hand

And we tipped the band

And went along the way

But the night was young

And she needed fun

Or so she liked to say

She was looking for someone to carry her through

She was looking for a way to keep it all new

So lay your head on mine

And stay with me tonight

So we spent the night

And the morning light

Crept across the bed

And we said goodbye

Without meeting eyes

And that was all we said

She was looking for someone to carry her through

She was looking for a way to keep it all new
