Fly you away from my window little blue bird
Fly as far as you can away from here
And let not your song fall upon my ear
Go spread your blue wings and I'll shed my blue tears

For the one that I have loved, she has left me and gone
And now I'm in no mood for to hear your sad long
Bring not your light into my dark room little sunshine
Waste not your warmth on the coldness in here

Oh trouble me not and go ye elsewhere?
Go light your blue sky and I'll shed my blue tears

For the only one that I have ever loved has gone away
And now I'm in no mood for your sunshine today

For the only one that I have ever loved has gone away
And now I'm in no mood for your sunshine today

Go spread your blue wings; Go light your blue sky
And I'll shed my blue tears
