"Debauchery"

Drunken ferry boat woman swaying on your sea if I turn on the gasfire by the rain rattled window won't you sail over to me

CHORUS

The hail storm tumbles the rail line rumbles you move on the porch with me on an overcast day the pale winter city an afternoon's debauchery

Your blouse your skirt undo them so gently with beautiful care I'm a lonely man with five bottles of wine I'd like you to share

Chorus

Orange street light afternoon becomes night you drink your wine from a mug there's cats at the backdoor the snow it two inches you roll down your tights on the rug

Chorus
